6. Conclusion

Our clients respect our team’s determination to protect their integrity and support their business goals, therefore we have a zero-tolerance policy. Failure to comply with any of these guidelines, or the terms and guidelines set forth in our employee(s) agreement, or any client terms and conditions to which we are bound, shall result in immediate dismissal and the termination of any existing engagement agreements. Although there are some conditions in which the client may be able to post and share details of our participation, the legal landscape can be confusing and unforgiving. We recommend all our employees stay focused on the work at hand and avoid excuses at all.

Any dispute between the company, client, and employee should be resolved by mutual discussion or trail mail among themselves. No one should write a review on social media or open platform website in any case. By doing this, the image of both can be tarnished and on doing this our company shall take legal action for brand-damaging. We're happy to make that request for you. Otherwise, err on the side of caution.

- The company have solo right to modify in NDA according to the change in company policy without any prior notice
- Any dispute would be subjected to GautamBudh Nagar District Court (Noida)
